EPA data starting to come in today. Due to the nature of the event, everything is going to roll down the rivers, just like the plume did. Also, helpful BOR statement on Lake Powell I sent you earlier.

I need help chasing that info for San Juan and NN. Maybe Rusty or others from region 9. I had heard very rough info about no observable spike in acidity or metals in San Juan in NM somewhere, need to confirm. What do we know about wq below Durango....?

Just so you know I have started, attached. I have not heard from Christie yet.

I will need some type of interaction with Ostrander, Myers, McKean, etc, later to get more of these addressed...

Melissa called with urgent need for someone to outline all the Qs and find answers or content experts. I suggested Rich and she agreed. Melissa said Rich will work with Kristi StClair on this. Information bottleneck has to be resolved asap and this is the solution.

Thanks Rich! I talked to Paula and we got you covered. Attached is the Mobilization Package. Let me know if you have any questions.

Also, please check in with me at the Incident Command Post when you arrive first and I'll check you into the response.

Thanks and travel safe!
